PREFACE.

TO STATE the reasons which have induced us to undertake the labor of collecting, and to assume the expense of publishing the Statistics, &c., of the PHILOMATHESIAN SOCIETY OF KENYON COLLEGE, may not be profitless.

In 1834, seven years from the establishment of the Association, a catalogue of the books belonging to the library was published. Again, in 1840, was issued a catalogue of books, together with names of members, active and honorary. Thus, in the first thirteen years of the existence of the Society, two publications were given to the world, while in the last thirteen no account of our situation or doings has been rendered. Hence ancient usage and lapse of time might be given as reasons. If we publish at all, it is best to improve upon our former works. To do so, it is necessary to make our notices of members more complete, and it was thought that a condensed account of leading incidents in their lives, together with present locations and business, would be interesting and valuable. Old members of the Society who were consulted, agreed with us, and it is well known that classes at eastern Colleges, as well as societies, frequently collect and publish such accounts. Hence, ancient custom, and the length of time since anything of the kind has been done, rendered the publication of something imperatively necessary, and our own inclinations, the advice of older heads, and the practice of other fraternities, induced us to present just what we have.

A committee consisting of PETER NEFF, Jr., H. H. MORRELL, H. D. LATHROP, and MOSES HAMILTON, was appointed to carry into effect the wishes of the Society. The labor was divided in the following manner: Mr. NEFF took the Correspondence, Messrs. MORRELL and HAMILTON the Library, Mr. LATHROP the History and Honorary Members. Our brother A. BANNING NORTON, of the Mt. Vernon True Whig, printed us a circular letter, copies of which were sent to every member whose residence could by any possibility be ascertained.

Many have not replied. For this we are sorry, as the interest and value of our work are thereby impaired; but we trust that a subsequent edition may be complete. Our knowledge of many has been obtained through the kindness of acquaintances.

The library has been carefully and laboriously examined, and the list of books is accurate. In preparing the history, old records have been ransacked; the contents of cupboards, drawers, and pigeon holes, scrutinized; old files of papers conned, and every attempt made to present a correct narrative, condensed as much as possible. The task of the committee has been a pleasant one. If the interests of our noble association shall be advanced by our labors, we shall feel amply rewarded.

GAMBIER, July, 1853.

HISTORY.

THE Philomathesian Society is coëval with Kenyon College. May 10th, A.D. 1827, a meeting convened in the recitation room of the Institution, then located at Worthington, in Franklin county, O. The object of this meeting was the formation of a literary association, and its result the Philomathesian Society, which then, with seventeen members, commenced its existence. "The Hall," in those days, was a log-cabin recitation room, and though our present place of meeting is more ornate, it may be doubted whether we experience more enjoyment or profit than our founders.

In 1828, the Institution was removed to Gambier, and the first meeting of the Society in that place, held in the recitation room July 11th. March 25th, 1830, an exhibition was given, which in point of length, does not equal those of more modern date. The programme is as follows :

KENYON COLLEGE.

EXHIBITION OF THE PHILOMATHESIAN SOCIETY—THURSDAY, MARCH 25TH, 1830.

Poem—Athens,	-	-	-	-	-	H. Caswall, (Pronounced by S. T. Carpenter.)
Forensic—Ought the principle of Ambition to be cherished?						{ S. A. Bronson, E. M. Phelps.
Oration—Recollections,	-	-	-	-	-	H. Dyer,
Forensic—Right of Instruction,	-	-	-	-	-	{ A. Norris, L. H. Minor.
Oration—Education and Morality the safeguards of Republican Governments,	-	-	-	-	-	J. L. Minor.

Our predecessors undoubtedly believed in condensation, and compensated in depth for deficiency in length. In former years, it seems to have been customary to have commencement exercises accompanied by Society exhibitions. Thus, at the commencement of 1831, the Phi Phi Alphas, a Society which long since ceased to exist, and the Philos, joined their forces, and presented the following bill of fare :

EXERCISES—SEPT. 7TH, 1831.

ORGAN.

Oration—Love of Glory, - - - A. G. Leary, Phi Phi Alpha.

MUSIC.

Oration—Influence of present upon succeeding generations, - - - S. A. Bronson, Philomathesian.

MUSIC.

Oration—Abuse of Talent, - - - D. Davis, Phi Phi Alpha.

MUSIC.

Oration—Evils of rapid increase of Population in the West, - - - Ja's Denison, Philomathesian.

During the year 1832, sectional differences sprang up, and increased to such an extent as to become extremely unpleasant. The number of students from northern and southern States was nearly equal, and a continual struggle for predominance was maintained. No one was admitted to membership who would not unequivocally “define his position,” and a system of “pairing” was observed, by which the same relative numerical strength was continually retained. Recourse was had to almost every means, in order to gain votes. A meeting was held at the room of a sick member, to secure his assistance upon an important question; and once in a case of most urgent necessity, a member was sent for, and came from Martinsburg; and another from about seven miles north. Contentions and difficulties increased until union was no longer tolerable, and separation was determined upon and effected. The property was amicably and equitably divided. S. A. BRONSON, since President of Kenyon College, and A. T. BOWIE, “tossed up” a dollar for the name. Tradition says that JENIFER, seeing them return, inferred the result from their countenances, and exclaimed, “The Yankees have won it, The Yankees have won it.” The thirteen southern members who withdrew, organized the Nu Pi Kappa Society.

The commencement of 1832, was accompanied by the following exercises of the three societies:

PRAYER—MUSIC.

Oration—Individual Influence, - - - M. Mitchell, Philomathesian.

Oration—Influence of Skepticism upon Individual and National Improvement, F. H. McGuire, Nu Pi Kappa.

MUSIC.

Oration—The Aborigines of North America, A. G. Leary, Phi Phi Alpha.

Oration—The Drama, - - - W. M. Tilghman, Phi Phi Alpha.

This is the last record we have of the public appearance of a Phi Phi Alphan; but at this commencement it is seen that that association was of sufficient importance to have two representatives, while the others had but one each.

At the commencement of 1833 the Nu Pi Kappians and Philos appeared together, according to the PROGRAMME—KENYON COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT—SEPT. 4TH, 1833.

PRAYER—MUSIC.

Oration—The Early Settlement of America, a theme for an Epic Poem, - - - W. P. Davis, Philo.

MUSIC.

Oration—Character of Howard, - - - W. Hodges, N. P. K.

Oration—The Revival of Letters, - - - J. A. Taylor, N. P. K.

MUSIC.

Oration—The Pilgrim Fathers, - - - N. Badger, Philo.

Oration—Antiquities of Ohio, - - - E. H. Davis, Philo.

The ruling passion of Dr. DAVIS, even in those days, is seen from his choice of a subject for an oration. While a student, he was known as “Ned, the Mound Digger.” He has dug mounds, and written upon the antiquities of Ohio, to some purpose, and Kenyon College and the Philomathesian Society have the honor of sending forth the man who wrote (in connection with another) the first work published by the Smithsonian Institution.

March 24th, 1834, the first united Society Exhibition not at commencement, was held. The programme follows:

PRAYER—MUSIC.

Oration—Ancient and Modern History compared, F. B. Meade, N. P. K.

Oration—Influence of Republican Institutions upon Moral Character, - - - A. E. Wolcott, Philo.

MUSIC.

Oration—Influence of Revolutions, - - - F. H. McGuire, N. P. K.

Oration—Importance of Rhetoric considered, - - - J. C. Weatherby, Philo.

MUSIC.

Oration—Character of Mason Good, - - - W. J. Edmonson, N. P. K.

Oration—Adoption and Influence of the American Constitution, - - - A. T. McClintock, Philo.

In July, 1834, the first catalogue of books belonging to the library of the Philomathesian Society, was published. From this it appears that the number of volumes was then, seven years from the formation of the Society, 923.

The day previous to commencement in '34, the societies appeared together for the last time. We present the programme:

PRAYER—MUSIC.

Oration—Influence of National Recollections upon

National Character, - - - J. S. Davis, Philo.

Oration—The Objects of Education, - - - J. T. Towles, N. P. K.

MUSIC.

Oration—Characters of the Demagogue and Patriot

Contrasted, - - - H. Anderson, Philo.

Oration—Influence of Benevolent Institutions upon

National Prosperity, - - - R. K. Phillips, N. P. K.

MUSIC.

Oration—Eulogy on Wirt, - - - Rufus King, Philo.

Oration—Character of Ramsay, the Historian, - A. M. Brooke, N. P. K.
(Absent.)

An interval of many years in the giving of exhibitions, here ensues. The reasons are unknown to the historian, and of course in writing a veritable history he dare not conjecture.

The first Address before the societies, was delivered at the commencement of 1835. Hon. C. B. GODDARD, of Zanesville, was the Orator upon that occasion. His address was published by the Philomathesians.

In the years 1836 and 1837, society feeling was carried to extremes. It is said that members upon both sides carried arms, ready for attack or defence, but there is no record of the spilling of blood.

At the commencement of 1838, Hon. J. W. ANDREWS, of Columbus, addressed the Philomathesian Society.

In the fall of 1839, the Society had its first attack of "Periodical" mania. After agitating the subject for some months, it was determined to publish a monthly, bearing the title, "The Collegian and Kenyon Literary Magazine." Editors were appointed, prospectuses issued, subscribers solicited, and printers engaged. The first number has not yet appeared.

In 1840, the Society published its second Catalogue of Books, containing also names of members, active and honorary. The number of volumes then in the library was 1700, and 227 members had been initiated. A memorial of the exciting political contest of this year is preserved in the library, in the shape of a diminutive barrel, bearing the well-remembered motto—"Hard Cider." Dr. DANIEL DRAKE was the Orator at the commencement of this year. In October, ten members were sent as volunteers for one year to assist the Nu Pi Kappa Society, which in numbers had become very much reduced.

At the Junior Exhibition of 1841, Rev. Dr. SPARROW addressed the Societies. It is thought that Rev. S. G. GASSAWAY read a Poem at the commencement of 1842.

Addresses for several successive years were delivered by the following gentlemen :

1843—Rev. E. H. CUMMING.

1844—Hon. THOMAS SPARROW.

1846—Rev. W. A. SMALLWOOD.

In February, 1847, another periodical was enacted, proceeded about as far as the one of '40, and shared the same fate. Hon. I. J. ALLEN, the present Whig candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and a graduate member of the Society, delivered the Address at the commencement of 1847.

An exhibition, the first for fourteen years, was held 22d February, 1848. The exercises and performers are presented in the programme :

MUSIC—BENEDICTION—MUSIC.

Hon. BELLAMY STORER was the Orator of the Society at the commencement of '52. His subject, "The Idolatries of the Age."

During the winter of '52 and '53, a furor for improvement has possessed us. Conclusive evidence of vitality has been given. More has been expended upon the Hall than during any previous five years. The collecting and publishing such notices of our members as they would furnish us, together with a condensed and imperfect history, and a catalogue of our books, has been undertaken and completed, and yet more is to be done.

A programme of the exhibition of Feb. 22, 1853, is annexed:

My first years in Kenyon were spent in a log cabin for my study. I went to Gambier before the College was erected; and before any improvements were made on the College Hill. The first night I spent on College Hill was in a cabin of boughs, covered with English blankets, the donation of English liberality. While the foundations of Kenyon College were being laid, in the winter of 1827, I was engaged in teaching the first rudiments of the English language to original settlers, in a log cabin, situated about forty rods north-west from the college building, on the banks of 'Owl Creek,' alias Vernon River. I spent three months of the winter of 1828 in Perry township, teaching the good people's children. My terms of tuition were $2.00 per scholar, for three months, payable in corn at 10 cents per bushel, or wheat at 25 cents per bushel. I had a school of 80 scholars and upwards. My recompense in corn and wheat all went to Kenyon, to pay for my board and tuition. The College was not completed, to receive inhabitants, till about three months before I received my degree; consequently, during all my College course, I lived in temporary buildings, except three months."

S U M M A R Y .

THE part which devolved upon myself, in this publication of the "Philomathesian Society of Kenyon College," was the correspondence with its members, and the preparation of such statistics as could be obtained by letter, or otherwise, which would either afford interest, or prove useful to its members. The labor was undertaken the 8th of February, 1853, and since then, no opportunity of obtaining any information of absent and deceased members has been allowed to pass unimproved. That there are inaccuracies in the foregoing statistics, is freely admitted ; but it will be found that they occur in those instances in which no personal information has been received by letter. The College records have been carefully searched for the correct dates, and I have availed myself of such means as could be resorted to, in order to obtain information, in the failure of receiving replies to our Circular letter.

The work, though laborious, has been exceedingly pleasant. It has been necessary to abbreviate the letters received ; and it is to be regretted that more of their interesting contents could not have been published, for the benefit of those who can only see these brief statements respecting their College associates and friends.

The Society numbers, of living graduate and active members, 345 : —339 members were addressed, and of the remaining 6, no definite information of their residence could be obtained. In reply, 132 letters have been received ; 207 members have not replied ; but of the greater number of these some information has been received from other sources ; 107 members are graduates of Kenyon College ; 19 are graduates of other Colleges ; 59 are lawyers ; 22 are physicians ; 14 are farmers ; 30 are merchants ; 66 are ministers of the gospel, of whom 59 are of the Protestant Episcopal Church, 5 of the Presbyterian, 1 of the Methodist, and 1 is a Swedenborgian minister ; 21 are teachers ; 21 are active members of the Society ; of the remainder, about 100, nothing certain is known of their employments. 34 members are known to have deceased ; making a total of 379 members, whose names have been enrolled since the foundation of the Society.

The proof-sheets have passed under the eye of the Rev. WILLIAM C. FRENCH, whose position as a graduate member of the Society, and also as Secretary for many years of the Episcopal Church in this Diocese, has enabled him to make many additions and corrections, which will materially change some items in the summary of statistics above given.

It is to be hoped that a more complete compilation of the Statistics of the Philomathesian Society will be attempted at no distant day, and if the present publication subserves no other purpose than to stimulate our successors to such a work, and to render their labor lighter and more satisfactory than ours has been, it will not be in vain ; for we have abundant illustrations, even within the compass of these few pages, to show in how brief a space all memorials or traces of our fellow-men perish from the earth, when not committed to the guardianship of “ immortal types !”
